DO IT NOW

Splendid, smooth highways, such as San Carlos avenue now is, have their perils as well as their pleasures.

Something must be done, and that quickly, to limit the terrific speed of automobiles traveling through the residence section of Carmel on San Carlos avenue.

The fact that all of the children attending the public school are obliged to cross this highway several times a day is in itself sufficient reason for establishing several hard and fast regulations governing this traffic.

It has been suggested that "Slow Down" and "Blow Your Horn" signs be erected one block each side of the school grounds, and that drivers who fail to comply with these regulations be reported to the local constable or by telephone to the constable at Monterey. This may be done by obtaining the license number.

It has also been suggested that a a mounted traffic officer be stationed near the school, at the expense of the county.

"Tusitala" An Artistic Triumph

Lloyd Osborn Among Those in Attendance

Hail "Teller of Tales!"

Hail Robert Louis Stevenson!

Hail Herbert Heron and John Northern Hilliard!

The presentation of "Tusitala" at the Forest Theater by the Western Drama Society on Friday evening was as different from the Del Monte performance a week before as night from day. We must confess that last week's review published in this journal was printed as a news affair concerning the doings of our townspeople, without much enthusiasm. But this article, this tribute, is given with high regard and pleasant satisfaction with a work wonderfully done. It was a work of joy and reverence, and not only the authors, but every one who helped to make the affair the artistic success it was, are entitled to the highest commendation.

It has been often said that Forest Theater audiences are cold. Not so at this performance. The players were accorded generous applause throughout, and they deserved it. Not a single bit of of poor portrayal of character was in evidence. And this may be accounted for to a considerable degree by the reverence of every player for Stevenson, and by the splendid training of the producers.

John Northern Hilliard did some versatile acting, and was always the character represented—the rollicking pirate, then again the mountebank, and again the resourceful Attwater. Herbert Heron did three difficult parts with convincing effectiveness. D. L. James, president of the Kansas City Symphony Association was the Piper. John Gribner was a splendid Long John Silver. Walter Butler O'Connell as Dick Shelton, Professor Frances E. Lloyd as Father Damien, Talbert Joselyn as Blind Pew, Alice MacDougal as Alicia, Marion Boke as Jim Hawkins, Antonio Corsi, the artists' model, as Dirk, Professor S. S. Seward as Dr. Livesey, William Cooper as Black Dog and as Case the Trader, Filoi Afiamalu, native Samoan, as Uma, and scores of others—effective players, picturesque peasants and archers, dancing nymphs, charming childen—too numerous to mention—where else could one see so remarkable a cast?

Scenically the producers left nothign to be desired. The dancing of Marion Devendorf, Rutherford Scott and Filoi Afiamalu, with original music by Frederick Preston Search was a distinct contribution.

And from the front of the house, as if to add to the realism of the affair, came a direct and intimate voice of the past. Lloyd Osborn sat there drinking in the beauty of it all, and both he and his wife told me afterwards, behind the scenes, that they would not have missed it for anything.

The policy of the Western Drama Society to present each year an original work by California authors, has again proved its inestimable value, and should there by nothing adequate submitted next year, "Tusitala" might well be repeated.

"Stevenson is dead! Long Live 'Tusitala'!"

Victrola Fund Needs Thirty Dollars

About thirty dollars is still needed to purchase the victrola for Sunset School. It was expected that the machine would have been purchased and installed for the opening of school next Monday, but as those managing the affair desire to purchase the instrument outright, it was found necessary to postpone the purchase until the balance needed is forthcoming.

During the past week $3.50 was added to the fund—$2.50 by Mr. Benj. Lichtenstein and $1 by a music lover.

DON'T MISS IT

Unless all signs fail, "Charlie's Aunt," at the Forest Theatre, next Saturday night, will bring tears and aches to a big laughing audience.

The comedy is so impelling that the rehearsals are frequently delayed while the actors give vent to their mirth.

The amusing antics of Lord Fancourt Babberly, masquerading as an old lady, in order to chaperon a couple of his college chums and their sweethearts, is irresistable.

When two college gentlemen lose their hearts to the supposed aunt and become rivals for her affections, a humorious scene succeeds another. To add to the complications the real aunt appears unexpectedly, accompanied by Lord Fancourt's sweetheart. He is torn between two desires—one to be a real old lady "with trousers on" and the other to be a real man with a skirt on when in the neighborhood of the girl. The unraveling of the tangle is highly amusing.

Arthur Cyril, who plays the leading role, is an actor of rare comedy ability. The others of the cast have proven their worth in farce comedy in the early rehearsals.

There will be a few reserved seats for the performance, the remainder open to general admission.

A Worthy Candidate

Elmer S. Rigdon has made announcement of his candidacy for the position of State Senator from this district.

Mr. Rigdon was elected to the Assembly four years ago, and made good. Though a Democrat, he succeeded in having enacted much important legislation. He showed himself such a persistent advocate for the best measures presented by all factions, that his party affiliation was almost entirely overlooked.

In the Senate his field of activity and representation will be considerably enlarged, thereby giving him opportunity to perform a greater measure of efficient service.

On his record he deserves election, both primarily and Novembrarily.

James Redfern Mason, musical critic of the San Francisco Examiner, has returned to his desk in the city after a brief vacation here.

WEEKLY GREETING

No man or woman of the humblest sort can really be strong, gentle, pure and good, without the world being better for it. Phillips Brooks.

Improving a Good Thing

The postoffice department has just approved a new invention which, postoffice authorities say, may revolutionize the parcel post service, at least so far as shipments "from farm to table" are concerned. It is likewise expected to have an influence in eliminating the middle man.

While the receipts from the parcel post have been enormous, yet department statistics reveal that farmers have not taken the advantage of it that they should. The new device, if accepted by American farmers, is expected to more than double parcel post receipts in country districts. To plan has been approved by put this into immediate use, a which the fourth class postmasters will take charge of the distribution of the new device.

The invention, to which the committee on experiment, research and design of the postoffice department has given its formal approval, is nothing more or less than a container by which country produce of all kinds can be shipped any distance without danger of breaking or spoiling. The container is made of the same fiber as that used in the construction of railroad car wheels. It is a cylindrical box with a peculiar inner arrangement of fiber partitions in which even eggs can be placed and the package thrown around as ordinary baggage without danger of breaking.

Where's the Gain?

A remarkable movement is being conducted throughout the country for a readjustment of postal rates and the inauguration of a One-Cent rate for letters, a reform which would result in a saving to letter users throughout the United States of over $75,000,000 each year, and reducing the government revenue just that amount.

Rembrandt Lecture

The fourth of the series of popular art lectures is to be given tomorrow evening, and the subject is "Rembrandt." Owing to the non-receipt of the "Sorolla" lecture, it was found necessary to change the previously announced subject. The Rembrandt lecture contains a biographical and critical study of this great genius, and his message to us today, written by Kenyon Cox, himself a master painter and great artist. The lecture is well illustrated with lantern slides.

Lectures to follow are:
August 10, Tapestry.
August 27, Painters of the Mode.
August 24, Sorolla.
August 31, American Painting.
